Propounds a few Questions to Judge Miller

And "Taps" up "A. G. Benton" Some.

Henry Clay said: "I would rather be right than President."
 Jas. P. Miller says: "I am anything for office. I was a Republican at one time. I voted for and indorsed everything they advocated." Time rolled on and I decided to stand over on the Populist platform with my foot fixed firmly on the breast of Democracy. I must roll on with the trend of affairs. I must loose my foot and stand up with these fellows; I want to hold my job. Now, boys, I indorse everything that Democracy holds dear. Leave politics out and slide me in. A man who is a mere machine whose patent right was obtained in the world of chance, is not fit to hold office. I have but very little use for a man as a county officer who classes me with murderers and outlaws. Hello! brother, if you voted for Mr. Yerkes you are a man who indorses murder and outlawness, so says Judge Miller. Suppose he means by that every fellow who indorsed Republicanism is ready to drag out.

Here is a question that I would like for Judge Miller to answer: In the eyes of God, which class of voters are looked upon as being men who indorse a murderer, Goebel's followers or the men who voted for Yerkes?

You claim, Mr. Miller, that it was a dishonor for a man to vote for Mr. Yerkes. You base your reasons on murder. Now tell me if this is dishonor? Where under the canopies of heaven can you justify yourself in voting for the man who actually killed his fellowman?

Why not reason for one moment here on this point? I am driven to believe that it is like the fellow who was condemned for stealing a horse. He tried to justify himself by telling that his neighbor had stolen a horse also. This was good evidence that the former was guilty.

The "top line" is keyed on the same scale and sung with the same object in view, just like the "Benton" letter the Herald scribe tried to crush Mr. Rogers out by false pretenses. This he failed to do and instead of "feeling up" to his guilt, he comes and condemns Supt. Rogers by saying he is guilty of fraud. Yes, somebody else is guilty of fraud, "Mr. Benton." "Rusticus," as you call him, has never been guilty of trying to assassinate the character of a young man whose record was, at that time, and is now, above reproach. Mr. "Benton" you seem to need every little thing for a club to try to smash the head of our club.

MARION SOLDIER'S HOME

A Haven to Uncle Sam's Wounded.

Interesting Information From J. W. Shouse.

Mr. John Shouse of the U. S. Soldiers' Home at Marion, Indiana, has given us some interesting information regarding that institution which we publish in order that all may appreciate his graphic account. Mr. Shouse has been an inmate of the Home about three months, only, and is now here to spend his month's vacation.

Mr. Shouse first describes the buildings as clean and commodious. They are situated in large well kept grounds about three miles from the flourishing city of Marion and are connected with that town by three systems of electric cars running side by side. In the two-story buildings proper, are twelve sub-divisions 30 by 300 feet. These are all under one great system of rules enforced by three commissioned officers: the Governor, Treasurer and Quarter Master.

The building is divided into practical lines, beginning with a library of 4,000 choice volumes, a reception room, a reading room, billiard, room, dining hall, kitchen and the dormitories.

The dining hall is quite large and can seat 1,000 men at the table at one time, each table holding from twelve to fourteen men.

The soldiers have entire charge of the culinary department, (receiving remuneration for their services however) and to give an idea of the quantity of food cooked and consumed, it is to food sight to see twenty-five men, each carrying a four gallon pot of coffee to the tables.

To facilitate matters, wagons with three wheels and three shelves-like compartments are used for the conveyance of other foods from kitchen to dining room.

Naturally, in an institution having between 2,000 and 2,500 inmates, a hospital would be a necessary adjunct. There are three buildings of this kind on the grounds each 700 feet long and a separate dining hall is provided for each. Nearby is the burying ground which is always kept in good order. There, in the twelve years of the Home's existence, are buried seven hundred dead. More than that number have died, but a great many are sent to their homes or buried by friends. A soldier has many privileges, notwithstanding his restrictions. After having been an inmate thirty days, he is given a red badge, which signifies that he may be absent from the home from eight o'clock till six in the evening. Then at the expiration of six months, the extra privilege of remaining away two days and one night consecutively, is granted.

During the summer months a band composed of the soldiers, holds a concert every other night, which is not only a diversion to the Home's inmates, but an occasion of great pleasure to the people of Marion, who come out on the cars in forces of two thousands or more.

All in all this Home is considered the best of its kind in the United States. While there are more, larger, among them the Dayton, O. institution, there are none conducted on a more systematic basis.

Uncle Sam is to be congratulated.

 Why let all your neighbors and friends think you must be twenty years older than you are? Yet it's impossible to look young with the color of 70 years in the hair. A False Report Denied.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—I desire to state that the reports which are being circulated that I will vote the Democratic ticket, are false and there is no truth in them. They are made by Democrats, without authority, and for the purpose of injuring me. I desire to state that I am a Republican and will cast my vote at the coming November election for the entire Republican ticket. I know that our ticket is composed of good, honest, safe, industrious men, and that they will make good and efficient officers, and no one could make any mistake in voting for them. I think that it is the duty of all Republicans to stand together and vote for the Republican ticket at the November election this fall.

Mr. E. L. Myers, of this city, visited friends at Central City last Sunday.

Messrs. Simon Stevens and E. H. Gwynn are attending the convalesce at Louisville.

Mr. Robert Blackburn, who has been lying at the point of death with congestion of the brain, is recovering rapidly.

Mr. Ellis Hudson is on the sick list at this writing.

There was a nice crowd from Render attended the grand game of baseball at Leitchfield last Sunday between the strong teams of Leitchfield and Render. It was easy for Render to defeat the Leitchfield boys with the reliable pitchers, Joe James and Will Sloan, in the box. This was James first game to pitch. The Render boys received good treatment. Last Saturday Render defeated Centertown at Render, the score stood 27 for Render and 15 for Centertown.

Police Raided Gambling Game.

The gamblers who had prepared to grow rich suddenly at the expense of the convalescists, were rudely interrupted Tuesday by the police, who raided a number of places and arrested the men in charge, besides confiscating the paraphernalia.

It seems that a general plan to open up all over the city had been formed and for five hours things were running at full blast. The play was heavy and many a "sucker" was fleeced before the officers stopped the game.

Theodore Thomas was the first man to be arrested. He is charged with setting up and running a game of chance. The game was conducted in Ed Weyler's saloon at Sixth and Market streets. Weyler was also taken into custody and held on a charge of suffering gaming on his premises. A lay-out of check-a-luck was found and taken as evidence.

The Log Cabin saloon on Market street, near Fourth, was the second place to be raided. A spindle wheel was found in operation here with A. C. Patton as the presiding genius. He was arrested and Stewart, the proprietor, was charged with suffering gaming and Patton with setting up and running a game of chance.

MARCH THE 4TH, 1901.

"Since the Adoption of the Chicago Platform in '96, I Have Been and am Now a Democrat."

July 19, 1900—"I am a Populist, I am for Everything the Populist Have Advocated."

"I Don't Propose to Take One Backward Step for any Nomination or Office."

TO THE VOTERS OF OHIO COUNTY:

I have heretofore, in response to certain friends of mine, made what I conceived to be a clear and explicit statement of my political position. Lest there should be any misapprehension, however, in the mind of any man on this subject, I will add to what I have already stated, that since the adoption of the Chicago Platform by the Democratic National Convention in 1896, and the re-affirmation of this Platform by the Democratic party in Kentucky, I have been and am now a Democrat. As I understand, the things necessary to constitute party affiliation in this country are: first, allegiance to party platform, and second, support of party nominees.

I had supposed that my political position, as here defined, was clearly understood by my friends in this county, and I trust that there can be no longer any room for misapprehension on this subject.

If nominated for County Judge by the Democratic Convention which meets in Hartford next Monday, I expect to be nominated as a Democrat, and shall ask the nomination as a Democrat. I shall submit to the action of that Convention and cheerfully support its nominees, whoever they may be, on the Democratic Platform which that Convention will adopt.

Very respectfully,
 J. P. MILLER.

Judge Miller's Democracy is being seriously questioned by many just now, and well might it be, too, for during the '97 campaign he told various Republicans that he was just as good a Republican as anybody, and at the same time, he was sailing under the Populist fusion banner. It is quite true, that on the 4th of March last, he published a signed statement that he was and had been a Democrat since '96, had endorsed all the platforms and supported all the nominees—Goebel included. The card speaks for itself; it is quoted above and should have the attention of every citizen. Below we give a letter in full, which was written in answer to an inquiry, last year, as to whether or not he had deserted the Populist party. It is self explanatory:

Hartford, Ky., July 19, 1900.

MR. T. F. CROWDER, MANDA, KY.—Dear Sir: Yours to hand and contents noted. I am glad to hear from you. I am not surprised at anything that you may hear about me—you will likely hear between now and the election that I have stolen a Rail Road, robbed a bank or raped the Queen of England, anything that will discredit me in the eyes of my friends—but let it come, I am a Populist still—and will pay no attention to these slanders. I am very busy taking care of the business the people of Ohio county have placed in my hands and have no time to fool away with those who would slander me.

I am for everything the Populist have advocated. I don't propose to take one backward step for any nomination or office. I am for Mr. Bryan for President because he was nominated by the regular Populist convention on a Populist platform, and if the Democrats and Free Silver Republicans get on our Platform we can't help it, but they can't run us off, we got there first. I would be glad to see you and talk this matter over, but it would take me all day to write you about it. I hope you know me, and there are others that know me, and you will hear even worse things than have yet been said, but I am a Populist, I am trying to do right. Give my respects to my friends if I have any.

J. P. MILLER.

If any man can read these letters and say of a truth, "I know Judge Miller is a Democrat, or that he is a Populist," we will take off our hat to him. Whoever dreamed that Judge Miller would "steal a railroad," or that he was guilty of having "robbed" a bank, or that he would ever attempt to "rape the Queen of England?" The only charge that had been preferred against him at that time, was that he had joined his fortunes with the Democratic party. He declared himself to be a Democrat in the convention held at the court house during the early part of July, which appointed delegates to the Lexington convention, and we so reported him to the public. This was all that was said of him, which seems to have slandered him. What! Slander him to call him a Democrat? You see what he said, it is not our saying, it is his own language. He was charged with Democracy, so nauseating was it to his mental stomach that it revolted against it and actual y emitted the above letter as a result of the nausea. It will puzzle the wisest to harmonize these manuscripts. We can't do it. It's yours, gentle reader, to have and to hold, fix it for yourself.

"A man that likes this sort of thing, this is the sort of thing that he likes."

Sixth and Seventh, was arrested by Corporals Monsch and Baker. A crap game was found in progress in this saloon. Dan Payne, the dealer, was also arrested.

Sergeant Dora and Patrolman Gallagher found William Bidwell and H. M. Miner operating a big spindle wheel in a vacant store room on Market street between Eighth and Ninth streets. They were arrested and the paraphernalia taken. About $350 was found in the cash drawer.—Commercial.

Mob Disperses.

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 27.—A mob of about 200 remained in the vicinity of the Federal jail at Fort Smith until 3 o'clock this morning, determined to lynch Lewis Smith, the negro who assaulted the seven-year-old daughter of a Frisco road employee. The mob was without a leader, and upon being advised of the danger it would incur by breaking into a United States jail, dispersed, after making a noisy demonstration against the prisoner. Watson, the father of the child, advised the mob to let the law take its course.

A young lady dropped into a local furnishing store recently and said: "It is my desire to obtain a pair of circular elastic appendages, capable of being contracted and expanded by means oscillating burned steel appliances that sparkle like particles of gold leaf set with Alaska diamonds, and which are utilized for keeping in position the habiliments of the lower extremities which innately delicacy forbids me to mention." The bashful youth blushed profusely as he handed her a pair of garters, the articles she was seeking.

The liability to disease is greatly lessened when the blood is in good condition, and the circulation healthy and vigorous. For then all refuse matter is promptly carried out of the system; otherwise it would rapidly accumulate—fermentation would take place, the blood become polluted and the constitution so weakened that a simple malady might result seriously.

A healthy, active circulation means good digestion and strong, healthy nerves.

As a blood purifier and tonic S. S. S. has no equal. It is the safest and best remedy for old people and children because it contains no minerals, but is made exclusively of roots and herbs.

No other remedy so thoroughly and effectively cleanses the blood of impurities. At the same time it builds up the weak and debilitated, and renovates the entire system. It cures permanently all manner of blood and skin troubles.

Mr. E. E. Kelly, of Urbana, O., writes: "I had Eczema on my hands and face for five years. It would break out in little white pustules, crusts would form and drop off, leaving the skin red and inflamed. The doctors did me no good. I used all the medicated soaps and salves without benefit. S. S. S. cured me, and my skin is as clear and smooth as any one's."

Mrs. Henry Sigfried, of Cape May, N. J., says that twenty-one bottles of S. S. S. cured her of Cancer of the breast. Doctors and friends thought her case hopeless.

Richard T. Gardner, Florence, S. C., suffered for years with Boils. Two bottles of S. S. S. put his blood in good condition and the Boils disappeared.

FIRST COAL OIL.

Was Manufactured in Kentucky at Cloverport in Breckinridge Co.

KING EDWARD THE VII

Of England Was a Member of the Company and a Shrewd Yankee.

MADE HIS MONEY—FLY.

Although not one in a thousand know it, people coming down the L. H. & St. L. R. R. pass, at Cloverport within a short distance of the place where King Edward VII of England made his only extensive American investment and lost.

The site of the royal speculation is a geographical and geological freak in the southwestern part of Breckinridge county. The point in question is a hill one hundred feet high, comprising about 1,000 acres, which were thrown up in past ages by some gigantic volcanic action. It cost an English nobleman, including the King, who was then the prince of Wales, about $25,000,000 in the course of a few months. Geologists say this hill is not related to any other in the State. Under it are two veins of oil and there is not another vein of this mineral within 50 miles of the Breckinridge county deposit.

Twenty-five years before the discovery of petroleum, coal oil was manufactured from this canal coal at Cloverport. So much gas was generated that a light house, which burned day and night, was established and became a landmark on the Ohio river fifty years ago. It was the first coal oil ever seen or burned in Henderson.

In 1884, D. H. Voemans, an Easterner, appeared in London and cut a wide swath. His visit ended by the purchase of the mines by a syndicate of Englishmen, including his royal highness, the prince of Wales, under the title of the Breckinridge company, limited.

They put a vast force of men to work and the way the manager spent money was a wonder. It cost $8 to mine a ton of coal which sold for $7. This condition prevailed for several years. The last manager, an American saved the company from absolute ruin. All the Englishmen ever got out of the hill was 300,000 lbs. of coal and $15,000 worth of law suits. The mines were abandoned two or more years ago.

There is said to be a likeness of a human leg, carved from this Breckinridge county canal coal on exhibition at the British museum.—Henderson Gleaner.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

What are Humors?

They are vitiated or morbid fluids coursing the veins and affecting the tissues. They are commonly due to defective digestion but are sometimes inherited.

How do they manifest themselves? In many forms of cutaneous eruption, salt rheum or eczema, pimples and boils, and in weakness, languor, general debility.

How are they expelled? By Hood's Sarsaparilla which also builds up the system that has suffered from them.

It is the best medicine for all humors.
